SECOND TO NONE

From NFL and MLB stadiums to NBA arenas, more contractors have picked us to team up and deliver the most difficult structures. Known for our complex truss fabrication, Hirschfeld has worked on stadiums such as Lucas Oil Stadium (which required 5,000 tons of steel for its retractable roof), Reliant Stadium, Soldier Field, PNC Park, Heinz Field, Minute Maid Park, and many others.

On a collegiate level, Hirschfeld has successfully completed stadiums and arenas such as Darrell Royal Stadium at The University of Texas, John Paul Jones Arena at the University of Virginia, Penn State Convocation & Events Center at Penn State University, and Scharbauer Sports Complex in Midland, Texas.

CONVENTION CENTERS, ENTERTAINMENT

In order for a complex structural project to succeed, it requires the right team to orchestrate the details and moving parts. At Hirschfeld, we help make the most complex projects simple by asking the right questions early on, using cutting-edge technology, and offering flexibility to you. The result? A well-executed project that truly performs.

Besides our extended experience in working with complex, time-sensitive projects, we have also received many awards such as the prestigious annual Tekla Model Drawing Competition in 2002 for the Gaylord Texan Hotel and the Kauffman Center for the Performing Arts projects in 2008. We were also named "Contractor of the Year" by Turner Construction, and the adaptive reuse of Soldier Field won a merit award in the $100 million or greater category of the 2004 IDEAS awards.

In the past two decades, we have successfully completed convention center and entertainment projects such as Kauffman Center for the Performing Arts in Kansas City, Missouri; Gaylord Texan Resort & Convention Center in Grapevine, Texas; Baltimore Convention Center in Baltimore, Maryland; George R. Brown Convention Center in Houston, Texas; Sony Pace Amphitheater in Camden, New Jersey, and many others around the country.
